Tentative book cover

Acclaimed American Latino author, ALEJANDRO MORALES, author of numerous novels and short story collections, presents his first book of poetry to the world. The son of Mexican immigrants, Dr. Morales became a distinguished professor at University of California, Irvine, where he mentored and inspired generations of scholars until his recent retirement.

Zapote Tree brings together over 60 poems pulsing with insights, imagery, hard truths about inequities in society, and unforgettable characters that expand our understanding of diverse cultures, such as those Dr. Morales straddles with wisdom and compassion.
